

Children's Halloween Spectacular

Who is brave enough to attend? The Centre has long been haunted

Games-Food-Fun FEAR

FOR ANYONE THAT HAS BEEN LIVING UNDER A ROCK –

We are holding a Halloween party this Halloween! The party is on Halloween day itself (the 31st) and is on from 2-4PM.

The party is aimed at younger children and will feature a haunted hallway experience (complete with terrifying actors of course), yummy food and Halloween esque party games.

It's free to attend - but must be booked! Our hope is that less advantaged children will be able to attend and have a spooky good time.

Laurie Matthew, who works at The Centre and is a self proclaimed Halloween expert said –

“I don't think anyone on the planet is brave enough to complete the haunted hallway AND go ducking/dunking/dooking for apples all on the same night.”

Several people that we probably spoke to said that they saw Miss Matthew's words as a probable challenge and that everyone should probably go to the party because it will probably be awesome.

We presume that the probably people will probably see you all there.

NEWSTYLE NEWSLETTER DAZZLES VOLUNTEERS

What's your thoughts on the new newsletter? Think you can do better? Well? Do ya punk????

We thought it would be nice to jazz it up a little and try to get it typed up regularly.

Those amongst you that were born in this century (which isn't as funny as it used to be) won't know but there used to be a newsletter called centre matters, which old people always lament over. So the volunteering newsletter is expanding a little to become a newsletter newsletter. Newsletter.

If anyone wants to have a go writing it or submit articles that would be fab!

Sad To Finish

as a worker

Excited To Start

As a volunteer!

Hannah doing what Hannah does best

Hannah's job sadly came to an end but she's still hanging around.

One of our younger employees job recently ended.

Hannah has been with us over the last few months assisting the work in the evenings. Her job was only ever temporary and her contract had ended some weeks back but we kept her on because of how good she is at pulling silly faces.

Many of us were afraid of feeling utterly lost without the familiar and reassuring site of Hannah checking Facebook on her phone and doing the Neigh Neigh dance (is that how you spell it?).

Fortunately however she has decided she can't actually leave us! So will still be around The Centre, Facebooking and Neighing as a volunteer.

18 PLUS recruits first

Volunteers

18 PLUS, a not new charity within The Centre, was recently rejuvenated with a new worker and management team.

Things are off to a really good start with demand for support already growing and new volunteers coming in to help meet this demand.

Anyone interested in getting involved should contact Ruiraidh (Sorry about the spelling possibly).

Royalty Visits The Centre Before it was cool to have royalty visit your place

STOP THE PRESS!!!!

So we saw that a royal couple visited Dundee this month! That's kinda neat...

Yeeaaaaarrsssss ago we had a royal couple visit us, whilst writing we can't for the life of us remember their names, but it was kinda a big deal!

It's very cute that all those other places caught up with us today ...

On a serious note we applaud any work to shine a light on young people's mental health. Let's hope this improves things.

Possibly the poshest posh picture of the poshest posh people we've ever seen!

Amazing Art Rediscovered at The Centre

A familiar set of notices have just been re-noticed at The Centre.

The posters (notices) were made in the early 80's with the input of one the UK's first young women's groups.

They are of high historical value and we just discovered that 2 other originals are on display in a London museum!

We've put them away in a safe place but if there's any interest we could look at doing a wee workshop in The Centre exploring the posters origins and messages.

Wellbeing & Confidence for all

All of the organisations in The Centre have begun to introduce a new method of measuring the confidence and wellbeing of staff and volunteers.

All new volunteers have begun the process and we hope to have all volunteers and staff members taking part by the end of this year.

Easter Retreat Mk11 Confirmed!

The retreat is on again next year!

Thanks to a generous donation by the BLE SEED fund, arranged by the wonderful Ailsa, we can almost afford to go again!

By almost we do of course mean there's gonna be some super fun fundraisers! Yyaaayyyyy!!!

The last trip cost around £1500, the BLE fund is £500. So there's a little way to go!

Get your thinking caps and hiking/biking/dancing/raising-money-however shoes on!
